Detective Bureau Trends

Detectives reported in June they had two reports of citizens being robbed as they were attempting to buy items advertised on a site called “Let Go”. “Let Go” is a site similar to Craigslist in which people can advertise items for sale, or look to purchase an item. The sale is usually concluded with the buyer and seller arranging to meet to complete the exchange. In these two cases the buyers were lured to apartment complexes or hotels in the Oshtemo area of 11th St. The investigation is ongoing to locate and identify a suspect.

Citizens are encouraged when using sites like “Let Go” and Craigslist to be as safe as possible. Some safety tips to use are to never meet an unknown person alone or in an unfamiliar area. Make sure the area you meet at has good lighting, lots of foot traffic and possible cameras in the area. Great places are often well lit business parking lots with cameras. It is recommended that you conduct these exchanges during business hours and never alone.

Should the situation turn bad and you find yourself the target of a robbery do not argue or fight with the suspect. Nothing you are selling is worth more than your life. Instead comply with the demands and try and get the best description you can of the person. When you are in a safe place call 911 and give appropriate information to the dispatcher. Dispatchers will ask for a location of the crime, suspect description and the last know direction the suspect went.
